

HIGH ROAD HOUSE

SOHO HOUSE
ART COLLECTION

Introduction by Jack Lazenby,
Art Collections Assistant Manager

Refreshed in its entirety in 2023, the art collection at High Road House brings together artists from across the capital and beyond. Split into three sections, this collection seeks to interrogate traditional motifs such as the figure, still-life and landscape by showing the diverse ways they are treated by artists today.

The figuration section of the club contains artists who call Chiswick home: such as Peter Blake, Sharon Walters and Maryam Eisler, as well as artists like Rene Matic, Gray Weilebinksi, Sarah Maple and Jake Grewal who treat perceptions of the body as central to their practice. A new site specific mural engaging with the idea of the body in art was created for the refresh by Alexandria Coe in summer 2023.

In the still-life room you can find there a vast array of mediums and approaches to the subject including artworks by Polly Morgan, Magali Reus and Michael Landy among others. Conversely, the private dining room presents an eclectic range of landscapes by artists such as Tania Kovats, Levack and Lewandowski and Paul Davies.

The basement features two mini collections, the 'Help' portfolio created by International artists to raise money for charity in the pandemic and a woman-only selection of the original monochromatic artworks curated for the House.
