SOHO HOUSE
ART COLLECTION

Introduction by Kate Bryan,
Chief Art Director

The Soho Farmhouse art collection numbers 180 artworks on permanent display across the club areas and accommodation. The collection responds to the Oxfordshire countryside with several site-specific commissions including the largest outdoor installation in the global art collection, a meditation structure by Yinka Illori. Entitled 'Beacon of Dreams' this work was powered by Porsche and unveiled at the inaugural Soho Summit in 2022.

The collection was refreshed in 2024 to introduce local artists and those who graduated in Oxford including Araminta Blue, Claudia Sarnthein, Zelga Simone Miller, Danny Augustine, Gommie, Hira Gedikoglu, Nicola Yeoman, Saad Quereshi, Tom Croft and Yingfei Lyu.

The refresh included two site specific commissions by Darcey Fleming and Annie Kevans. Annie Kevans created a series of 8 portraits entitled "The Women of Great Tew Circle" for the reception Gatehouse. A piece of revisionist history, Kevans highlights the women who were pioneers of their time and members of The Great Tew Circle – a liberal intellectual group comprised a group of theologians, philosophers and poets who met regularly in Lord Falkland's house at Great Tew, near Oxford, from the early 1630s until around 1639. As Kevans, who lives locally, describes, "several women were involved in the Great Tew Circle but their achievements are not recognised or celebrated in the same way as their male counterparts. As with so many fields, the women are not even listed as members of the Great Tew Circle on websites such as Wikipedia, despite the fact that one of them co-hosted the gatherings. Here I bring them back into view in the local area."

For the Main Barn, Darcey Fleming created large scale tapestry from discarded farmer twine sourced locally. The various colours were preserved and refashioned into 32 Squares which in total measure 6.4m by 3.5m making it the largest single work in the global permanent art collection.

The Mill Barn presents a focussed selection of landscape inspired artworks ranging from the specimen-like photographs casted in resin by Almudena Romero to Emiliano Maggi's folkloric pigment on wood. The Haybarn includes a colourful selection of work by emerging talent including Aimee Parrott, Leo Fitzmaurice and Megan Plunkett. The bedrooms feature commissions from Danny Augustine and Eliza Hopewell amongst other works.

“Beacon of Dreams is a space where people can come together to reflect, meditate and process their thoughts and ideas. It’s very intimate, sits six people and is accompanied by a soundscape, which was curated, engineered and designed by Balimaya Project. The soundscape is essentially an addition to this experience of being able to pause for a few minutes in and around nature.

‘It’s a new kind of work for me. I’ve always done creative work in public spaces, but not in the countryside. It was such a powerful experience, because when you’re around nature, you’re forced to listen and really engage with birds, water and trees. You have to listen to what’s happening around you, as nature has its own life and breathes its own air.

‘I had to work with nature to create something fitting for this type of environment. The work I create is very much all about joy and colour, externally and within the space. But I was also looking to create something poetic and soft. And when you go inside, that’s where you experience the internal joy, this is where the magic happens.’
